Ernest William Smillie, first and only Superinendent of the Department of Animal and Plant Pathology of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, who this past week became the first beweders by public servant ever to be bonored similaneously by five governors of the State. With the consolidation of the Institute's research activities in New York City, and with Princeton University's mean of the Princeton of the Princeton for the Princeton's development as a research center.

It was in 1916, the year the Rockefeller Institute opened its laboratories here, that Smillie appeared on the Princeton scene as a newly graduated doctor of veterinary medicine. Intrigued by the prospect of working under the late great Theobald Smith, he came to stay "for two or three years and During World War I he helped operate the "serum plant" established by the Rockefeller Foundation for the Allied Forces and in 1919 was named super-intendent of the department that was to add so tremendously to man's knowledge of the "general processes of disease and the recovery therefrom".

Down through the years, Smillie, a 59-year old native of Eaton, Colo., and in his youth a "horsejingler" on the 7-Cross Ranch on Cow Creek, was the man-behind-the-seenes at the Brunswick Pilke laboratories. As the research program broadened and the Institute added to its physical facilities, he may be a support of the property of th

Secretary of Plainsboro's governing body for a period of seven years and a former Trustee of Princeton Hospital, Smillie was elevated to the New Jersey Board of Health in 1935 and for the next 12 years laid the groundwork for the present streamlined Department of Health. He and his assumation beyond the reach of patronage, "Soid" New Jersey on a completely revised public health code, which was finally enacted in 1947 while hwas serving under his fifth Chief Executive.

For his distinguished supporting role in the sphere of science; for his contributions to the forward movement of New Jersey's public health program; for sharing with others his capacities for community leadership; he is TOWN TOPICS' nomince for Random Notes. A bill to license hicycles, requiring payment of an annual $5 fee, has been passed by the Assembly in the State Legislature and now goes to the Senate, If the measure becomes law, it will be optional with individual municipalities, but such legislation has already been favorably recommended to the mayor and council by at least one civic group.

Princeton's best known resident, Albert Einstein of 112 Mercer Street, will observe his 72nd birthday next Wednesday.

Miss Eleanor V. Weld, 30-year-old member of the staff of the Firestone Library, whose home is at 4 Mercer Street, was the third juror chosen to serve in the trial of the six Trenton Negroes charged with the murder of a storekeeper in that city. An orginal death verdict reached against them was revoked and the case has drawn international attention, largely through the efforts of communistic groups to paint a picture of unfair treatment of the defendants. While serving on the panel, Miss Weld and the other jurors will live under guard in a Trenton hotel where their newspapers, radio and television programs will undergo strict censorship to prevent swaying their opinions on the case.

Commander Charles Noble, chief engineer of the New Jersey Turnpike, told the Republican Club meeting Tuesday night that the 118-mile project will be finished on schedule next November, thus permitting motorists to go from one end of the state to the other without stopping for a red light. Among the incentives: interest payments on borrowed funds of $20,000 a day and anticipated tolls amounting to $26,000 daily, thus costing the Turnpike Authority $46,000 for every day the job remains unfinished.

Helpful note on income tax returns: a tax guide that has come to our attention informs us that the federal tax on any opium or marihuana we may have purchased during the past calendar year is deductible in full.

To the Editor of Town Torics:

It has just come to my attention that one of the business firms on Nassau Street in restaurant operator is contemplating a new building and has filed an application for a building permit. If my information is correct, this businessman is planning to place a highway-type, chromium-plated, neon-lighted diner on Nassau Street.

During the past few years, I have followed with very great interest and very great hope the conduct of "Operation Nassau" Through this movement a group of citizens has attempted to maintain the essential character of Princeton by keeping its business section in line with the colonial heauty of our town and the unique character of our campus,

Judging from the line turn-out and enthusiastic response at a public meeting held last fall, the citizenry is thoroughly in favor of the objectives of "Operation Nassau." Thirty-three awards were made to merchants and property owners who have voluntarily cooperated in planning redecoration or remodel—Continued on Page 3 ing to conform to the long-range plans for beautilying our business section.

Now, at this critical point, a merchant proposes to install a type of building which is unobjectionable architecturally on a bigbway or across from a factory or depot entrance in some industrial town. However, to bring this type of structure onto Nassau Street seems to me to be a direct violation of the wishes of the citizenry who have so actively supported "Operation Nassau."

There have been many new buildings, remodeling and redecorating projects in the past three years. Every other merchant in town who has remodeled during this period has voluntarily entered into the spirit of "Operation Nassau." This includes two out-of-town companies whose new buildings and fronts are a real credit to the colonial beauty of Princeton. These two companies, Woolworth and the Diana Stores, were eager to cooperate with the citizens of Princeton and departed from their typical store-front plan to do so.

A chromium-plated diner probably conforms to our zoning laws as they pertain to lire-resistant materials, but it certainly doesn't conform to the colonial beauty of Princeton. I feel that we bere in Princeton would be the losers if we depart from the objective of beauty as planned for our town.

Surely there must be some other type of treatment or type of building than a chromium-plated diner that would provide housing for a prosperous, progressive business firm.

OPHELIA M. GALLEP

Many Princetonians will no doubt agree that appearance of the town's business section will not benefit from the addition of neon lights and garish chrome, and that an equally successful restaurant business can be conducted behind some front more in line with existing architecture in the community. Those who wish to register their feelings on the matter are referred to the four directors of "Operation Nassau," their addresses and telephone numbers: Dilman M. K. Smith, Opinion Research Corporation (2600); Jahn A. Archer, Umversity Laundry (3123); Julian E. Garnsey, 138 Nassau Street (2005), and Orren Jack Turner, Jr., 112 Nassau (780).

Republicans Named. Twenty-four hours before the primary deadling, the Republicans had a three-way race in the primaries among the probable candidates listed here last week: Councilman Charles J. Rocknak, Tristam B. Johnson Norvell B. Samuels. Other candidates, unopposed in the primaries, P. Mackay Sturges for mayor; Harry B. Warren, assessor; Wilbur F. Kerr, collector-treasurer; Albert J. Salzman, township committee; Joseph Nini, township clerk. All are incomments

Most of the latter were likely to be unopposed next Fall. The Democrats, with an eye to Thurs—continued on Page 5

September Affair (Thurs.-Sat.) is the story of a romance between Joan Fontaine and Joseph Cotten that develops after they escape from an airplane crash in which they are listed as killed. Since he is previously married, retribution eventually interrupts their fdyl. Picturesquely and prettily told, the story relies on tinsel to shield the fact that there's little or nothing

Three Guys Named Mike (Sun,-Tues.) casts Jane Wyman as a young airline hostess learning her job and three suitors (Van John-son, Howard Keel, Barry Sullivan) all trying to win her favor. Situa-tions here and there, as Miss Wy-man progresses from training school to veteran stewardess, are amusing but the story is thin and the situations are routine.

U.S.S. Teakettle (Wed.-Sat.) is one you are quite likely to enjoy. A New Yorker story furnished the basis for the plot, a very amusing record of the shakedown cruise of a Navy patrol ship whose Naval Reserve captain (Gary Cooper), fellow officers and crew are about as inexperienced a bunch of land-lubbers as ever set foot on any deck.
